

Local Legion Post is Highly Complimented

State Commander Emmett O'Neal, of the Kentucky department, paid a high and deserved compliment to the Montgomery Post by selecting the squad that attended the national American Legion convention at Kansas City from here to lead the entire Kentucky delegation in the mammoth parade with their colors and post standard.

This parade was the biggest and most impressive of its kind held in the world, since the world war, numbering tens of thousands of ex-service men and women in its ranks and requiring more than three hours' time to pass the reviewing stand. The Kentucky delegation, about 100 strong, was lustily cheered all along the line of march, attracting greater attention than that from any other state.

News was received here yesterday of the death of Mrs. Lucy E. Sutherland, which occurred at her home in St. Louis, following a paralytic stroke. Mrs. Sutherland was the daughter of W. W. McKenna, of this city. Mrs. Sutherland is also survived by one son, H. G. Sutherland, of St. Louis, with whom she made her home. Funeral and burial took place in St. Louis today.

Hung Jury in Gay Case

The jury in the case of Mrs. James E. Gay, charged with being of unsound mind, failed to reach a verdict and was dismissed by Judge Prewitt Monday morning. Owing to the prominence of the parties the case attracted wide attention and the court room was packed during the entire trial, which lasted for several days. The case was given to the jury Saturday afternoon when they failed to reach a verdict and were dismissed until Monday morning, when they announced they were hopelessly hung.

Long Suffering Ended By Death

Mrs. G. C. Smith died at her late home on Winn street on Friday, November 4, aged 81 years in December.

She was born and raised in Covington, where she was married 50 years ago to G. C. Smith. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Rankin Whitsitt, and two sons, Roy and Shelby Smith, of Cincinnati, and four grandchildren, Misses Alice and Lenora Cassity, and two grandsons, John Cassity and Albro Whitsitt. After a prayer service at the late home the body was taken to Covington and buried in Highland cemetery. Mrs. Smith had been confined to her bed for seven years and during that long period of suffering she was never heard to utter a word of complaint concerning her condition and was patient even unto death.

She was a member of the church of the New Jerusalem, but because there was no church of that persuasion here she seldom attended public worship. A woman of strong mind, she knew in whom she trusted and had an abiding faith in Christ, her Savior. Mrs. Smith had a great love for books and it is said she had read the greater number of books contained in the city library; that she was versatile on the subjects that engaged master minds until the time when reason became dethroned. She had raised children and grandchildren who have proved themselves worth much, not alone as educators but models in society as well. Hers was a good part in the betterment of her circle.

Another Ex-Service Man is Laid to Rest

The remains of Sewell Burgess, aged 20 years, who died at the Hazelwood Sanatorium of tuberculosis November 4, were brought to this city and laid to rest in Machpelah cemetery Sunday afternoon. The funeral was in charge of the American Legion and services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Crates, of the Methodist church.

Young Burgess went to France in June, 1918, was wounded and gassed in the battle of the Argonne and sent home in 1919, the gas having caused the disease which resulted in his death. He was a son of the late Alfred Burgess and is survived by one half-sister, Mrs. Everett Burgess, of Thomson Station. Thus another gallant son has fallen victim to the treacherous warfare of the Hun.

HOLDING HIS OWN

The condition of J. W. Porter, a Lexington broker and former banker and educator, who was shot on last Thursday and seriously wounded, is encouraging, though, his physicians think, critical. Mr. Porter is at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Mr. Cohen, merchant of Lexington, who did the shooting, is in the county jail, and his trial is fixed for Friday in police court. Particulars leading up to this act have not been fully revealed. The public has been advised that the two men had engaged in a spirited argument that led up to the shooting. Mr. Porter is the father-in-law of Ballitt McCann, formerly of this city, and is widely known in Mt. Sterling.

Election Day

Little interest is being manifested in the election being held in this city and county today, the only contest being in the race for members of the County Board of Education. Two members are to be chosen on this board, the candidates being A. L. Tipton, Rex Hall, F. M. Lockridge and Adlai Richardson. The Democratic ticket in the city and county is without opposition with the exception of J. T. Bonner, colored, who is running on the Republican ticket for councilman.

Throughout the state and nation there are many bitter fights being waged, but this is one election day in which the citizens of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county are little interested, and the usual hard feelings following an election will be lacking.

Armistice Day To Be Fittingly Celebrated

Armistice Day will be jointly celebrated by the members of the American Legion and Boy Scouts at the Christian church Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Members of both of these organizations will attend in uniform, and a patriotic program will be rendered, consisting of songs, addresses and tableaux. The principal speaker of the evening will be Rev. Father Corby, of St. Patrick church, this city. The public is cordially invited and it is hoped a large crowd will be present to celebrate the glad day when the armistice was signed and the great European war brought to an end. This service promises to be very interesting and inspiring and a large crowd is expected to be in attendance to fittingly celebrate the closing of this bloody conflict in which so many of our gallant sons "bit the dust" that you and I might be made safe from the attacks of the savage Hun.

Edward N. Wood Dead From Paralysis

Edward N. Wood, aged 61, after having been an invalid for several years from paralysis, died Saturday, November 5, at the home of Mrs. P. L. Reese.

Mr. Wood was a native of Camden, Maine, and came here as a conductor on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, and here met and married Miss Mattie Reese, who died several years ago. His second wife was Miss Emma Reese, who, with one daughter by his first wife, Mrs. W. S. Sanders, survive him. Mr. Wood was a member of the Presbyterian church and was one of our very best citizens. After serving as conductor for a period of years he went to Florida, where he was conductor on one of the southern roads, returning here about six years ago.

Funeral services were conducted at the grave in Machpelah cemetery by the Rev. Clyde Darsie.

Nothing could be said of Edward Wood but to his praise and every citizen of Mt. Sterling held him in the highest esteem. Peace to him who sleepeth.

Death Claims Miss Marguerite Bowling

On November 2 Marguerite Bowling, aged 13 years, yielded in a struggle for life in a violent attack of quinsy. Marguerite was the daughter of Henry Bowling and wife of Millersburg, where death came, and where funeral services were conducted November 3. Burial was in the Millersburg cemetery. Marguerite was a very bright child, a niece of Mrs. F. D. Richardson, of this city.

Today we give notice of the deaths of a number of our people who have passed the meridian of life and this departure of the little girl is a reminder that death is not a respecter of persons, that his relentless grasp come alike to all. It has recently been revealed that Prince Rudolph, one-time heir to the Austrian throne, was killed by being hit over the head with a beer bottle while walking with a baroness, but inasmuch as this happened in 1889, we don't see why Europe should get all smoked up over it, unless somebody is looking for an excuse to start the next war.

American Legion News

Thirty-two years old and the leader of a million fighting Americans. That's the record of Hanford MacNider, of Mason City, Iowa, the new national commander of the American Legion, elected at the Kansas City convention. MacNider was elected by acclamation. Following his election he was carried to the platform by the Iowa delegation. He said:

"You know the strength of the legion is in the men you represent in your posts at home, not in the national headquarters. There is where the legion is and there is where we shall try to reach. We must build this legion of ours so big, so fine, so strong, keep it so clean and straight and American that when we ask for things for the ex-service man, for the disabled man and for those who are financially disabled, our communities will say: 'If the legion is for it we are for it.' For that service and with a pledge to you of every economy and all measures possible for constructive progress, I stand at your command."

The vice commanders elected were H. Nelson Jackson, Burlington, Vt.; George L. Berry, Tennessee; Raymond O. Brackett, Massachusetts; John A. McCormick, Colorado; C. M. Kendrick, California. Rev. E. A. Blackman, of Kansas, was elected national chaplain. Mrs. Lowell Hobart, of Milford, Ohio, was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary of the legion.

New Orleans was selected as the next meeting place. That city has pledged $100,000 for entertaining the legionnaires there during the 1922 meeting next autumn.

The presence of the distinguished military commanders—Foch, Jacques, Diaz, Benty and Pershing—brought the gaze of the world on the legion's great meeting. Their addresses in the convention started the legionnaires' enthusiasm on a rapid ascent.

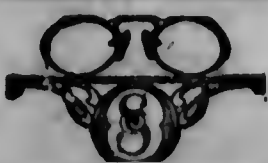

At the opening session the legion men honored their late commander, Fred W. Galbraith, Jr., with a memorial service. John G. Embry, the retiring commander, set off a roar of applause when he declared that the people of the United States demanded an adjustment of the economic balance between the man who went to war and the man who did not.

The legion's growth financially and numerically was shown by the annual report read to the convention by National Adjutant Bolles. It was reported that 1,050 new posts had been added during the year. Mr. Bolles outlined the legion's campaign to assist unemployed ex-service men.

Major General Le Jeune, commander of the marine corps; General Robert McBride, vice commander of the G. A. R., and George L. Berry, official representative of the American Federation of Labor, were speakers on the opening day.

The reception for Foch when 25,000 men in navy blue and olive drab, silhouetted by red fire, stood on the steps of Kansas City's new $2,500,000 war memorial in Union station plaza waving their arms, was a dazzling spectacle.

Another "high" of the three-day gathering was the annual legion parade with endless columns of marching men, legionnaire cowboys from the west, Indian veterans in native costume and many attractive floats. With their former high commanders leading the parade, the legionnaires

We were surprised to know that W. E. Jones had put in a plant on East High street and was turning out work of the very highest grade. We would call it an auto trimming plant in which all tops to autos and buggies are either made new or as good as new. They have installed two gas engines and a Singer auto top machine. This machine is said to be the best and most expensive in use. In addition to this department is the paint room where the best work can be executed free from dust. W. E. Jones is prepared to do the best work. Madison V. Leach is the master artist workman and the jobs that leave his rooms are as near perfect as it is possible to make them.

To those who are indifferent regarding the rights of way on the Mt. Sterling and Winchester pike we would advise that they make a trip over the Mt. Sterling and Paris route. Sterling and Winchester line.

HENRY FORD, DREAMER AND MAN OF ACTION

Except only the men whose official doings of various kinds keep them constantly before the public, like President Harding or Mr. Lloyd George, it is usually some one thing that brings a private person into the glare of publicity at a particular moment. Henry Ford is an exception to this rule. Four or five different matters, not related essentially to one another, have given Mr. Ford his place in front page headlines during the past few weeks.

One of these relates to the end of his contest against Mr. Newberry for the Michigan senatorship. Another relates to his remarkable experience in reaching the maximum output of Ford cars when most manufacturers were still running on part time. Another topic of general comment has been Mr. Ford's experience in the ownership and operation of a railroad several hundred miles long. But in certain quarters, the most interesting of Mr. Ford's recent activities has been in connection with his plans for the development of the government's unfinished work at Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

During the war the government decided to create a series of water powers at Muscle Shoals, with an approximate capacity considerably greater than that which is harnessed at Niagara. This water power was to be used principally for obtaining nitrogen from the air for explosives in war time and for fertilizers in time of peace.

Mr. Ford's offer has been under serious consideration at Washington with the prospect that it will be accepted. In view of Mr. Ford's recent activities, the editor of the Review of Reviews sent the noted writer, Judson Welliver to Detroit to spend some days with Mr. Ford to learn at first hand his plans and his ideas, especially with regard to Muscle Shoals and the future of American agriculture. Space does not permit a resume of Mr. Welliver's article, but country people will be interested in the most significant of the writer's impressions, as follows:

Mr. Ford, with all his dreams and visions, loves most to dwell upon the future of American agriculture. He wishes to help emancipate the farmer and the farmer's wife from at least two-thirds of their present drudgery.

His opinions on the elimination of live stock, including the dairy cow, will not, perhaps, be taken seriously. His firm belief, however, that there is an immense field for the use of mechanical appliances, with electric power or with cheap substitutes for gasoline, is in accord with evident tendencies. Hence his desire to develop Muscle Shoals.

Mr. Ford is a dreamer, but he is also a man of action whose achievements have been so remarkable that he is sure to find the country readily interested in his points of view, however fantastic some of them may seem.

An Excellent Cast in "So Long Letty"

One of the best Robertson-Cole super-special releases of the year is "So Long Letty," the comedy-drama produced by Al Christie, which will be at the Tabb Theatre on Wednesday. The picture is the screen adaptation of the Oliver Morosco play of the same name which established an enviable record on the legitimate stage during the last five seasons.

The picture was made in the Hollywood studios outside of Los Angeles by Mr. Christie, so that everything in both productions are alike in detail and none of the fine points of the play as originally put on are lost in the picture.

As a photoplay, "So Long Letty" has one of the most capable casts seen in any picture this season. The four principal characters call for artists of ability and in T. Roy Barnes, Grace Darmond, Colleen Moore and Walter Hiers, "So Long Letty" has practically an all-star aggregation. There are many beautiful bathing girls in the picture, Mr. Christie believing that water, either as a part of a picture setting or otherwise, is useless unless you put something worth while in it.

Throughout the story of "Letty" matters become mixed, muddled and fixed in the most surprising manner. Two couples—newlyweds—are neighbors. The four present a quartet of dispositions as different as day is from night. The two husbands depict the home loving and the gay dog types. The two wives differ in about the same manner. It so happens that the gay dog is married to the home body wife, while the hubby of the frisky and carpet slippers has the consort who loves the jazz bands and the creations of a Fifth avenue modiste.

The difference in temperament leads to all sorts of comedy and discussion with the result the men decide to swap wives. The women folk are called into conference and they agree with the men in order to teach them a lesson. A trial of one week is demanded by the women before taking up the business of divorce. The trial week follows and so does some of the most interesting situations ever seen in pictures.

WILL WE ALL MAKE OUR OWN GOLD IN TEN YEARS?

Our high school boys have been told that the atom is the base of all matter, of all substance. It is an infinitely small critter, this atom, but everything in the world, and the world itself, are built up of it, fabulous numbers to every cubic inch. But nobody has yet penetrated to the heart of an atom; it is still a riddle.

Now you wouldn't think that such an insignificantly tiny thing as an atom would worry anybody, but it actually does worry the world's greatest financiers, especially our own Wall street millionaires, because—

Scientific chemistry is getting to know too much about that said atom!

The chemists are solving the riddle. Within ten years they have cleared up many of its secrets and the prediction is freely made by the learned scientists that in another ten years they will have learned the structure of the atom and will be able to make any element desired at will.

If they learn the exact composition of the atom they will be able to make granite or coal, tin or rubber, lead or—yes, gold!

That's the point—that's what makes the multi-millionaires shiver, because if gold can be manufactured at will in a laboratory, his fortune based on gold, will probably become nothing but a wisp of the wind. On the other hand, the man whose wealth is in land, buildings and live stock will get off easier.

Distinguished Divine Passes to Reward

The sad news of the unexpected and sudden death of Dr. B. B. Bailey, evangelist-pastor, flashed from the wires at his late home, Alexandria, La., where he had been active pastor of the Baptist church since September 1. Dr. Bailey was a native of Tennessee and would have been 58 years old the day following his demise. Dr. Bailey was pastor of the Bagdad church in Shelby county, from which place he engaged as pastor of the church at Winchester, serving ten years, and accomplished much for Winchester. He served at Shelbyville five years, during which period he led in the construction of the modern church and Sunday School plant in that city. Later he became pastor of the churches at Jackson, Tenn., Macon, Ga., Texarkana and Arkadelphia, Ark., and Maysville, Ky. He resigned at Maysville to become evangelist under the Home Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, where for years he served with effectiveness and brilliancy to the time when he entered on duty as pastor of the church at Alexandria, La. When pastor of the church at Bagdad, Dr. Bailey was called to the pastorate of the Mt.

PERFECT PACKAGE MOVEMENT

A nation-wide "Perfect Package Movement" will be conducted by the railroads, steamship lines and the express carriers of the United States and Canada during November which will be known as "Perfect Package Month." The shipping public of this city will be asked to co-operate in the campaign.

An announcement to this effect was made today by a joint committee of local transportation people, composed of J. C. McNeal, representing the C. & O. railroad, and F. P. Cordis, agent of the American Railway Express Company. This committee has taken the matter up with the city Chamber of Commerce, and arrangements have been completed to enable the shippers of this city to make a good showing in the movement.

The purpose of "Perfect Package Month" is to enable the carriers to aid shippers in their packing problems and to help improve the transportation service of the country.

During November the railroads, steamship lines and the express companies will examine the condition of all freight and express shipments and record the faults of shipments, which do not come up to the general classification of perfect packages.

Special report blanks for freight and express will be made out for every shipment that is found wanting in some detail of good shipping, and these reports will be sent to the shippers of the packages. A summary of all exceptions found during November will be submitted to the city Chamber of Commerce for examination and tabulation.

At the conclusion of the movement, the record of each city during "Perfect Package Month" will be tabulated and published broadcast. The leading city will be exploited because of its perfection in shipping methods.

Considerable rivalry has been aroused among traffic organizations which have determined to make their cities the leader of the perfect package month.

November was selected for the campaign as the carriers are in a position where they can give more careful examination of passing traffic and could, in fact, handle 25 per cent more business.

The railroads will push the "Perfect Package Movement" through a single agency, the American Railway Association, an organization of practically all railroads and steamship lines. Express agents everywhere will join with the railroads in conducting the campaign.

HONEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1921

Did you ever take note of a rush at a railway gate or a circus door? Some people edge out of the middle of the throng and bover around the sides seeking the easy way to get in. Others dart into the thickest of the crush and eagerly press forward until they gain the entrance. The successful man in this life is like one of the latter. He knows he has a battle before him and he finishes not at the hard places but goes on through with it at all hazards.

Advertising As An Investment

Mr. Merchant, Mr. Business Man, Mr. Farmer, did you know that Advertising is the greatest present-day asset to business? It is recognized as the greatest selling force in the world, and NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING is considered the leading factor in reaching the buying public.

IF YOU HAVE ANYTHING TO SELL, place your advertisement in the paper that reaches the most people, the prospective buyers of the commodity you have to offer. Place your advertising on a purely business basis where you will get the greatest returns for the money expended.

IN THIS SECTION THE ADVOCATE IS RECOGNIZED AS THE LEADING NEWSPAPER, having the largest circulation of any paper published between Winchester and Ashland, a distance of over 100 miles, and as compared with its local contemporaries its circulation is more than that of both of them combined, thereby giving its patrons twice as much for their money as either of the other Mt. Sterling papers.

REMEMBER, advertising is one of the most important features of any business; therefore, it will well pay you to place your business where you get the most for your money.

People who write for a livelihood get some queer propositions from those who have crude ideas about the operation of the literary machine. There is a prevailing idea among those who have dabbled in literature very much that the divine afflatus works a good deal like a corn-sheller. This is erroneous. To put a bushel of words into the hopper and have them come out a poem or sermon is a more complicated process than it would seem to the casual observer. A Hot Springs man engaged in the confectionery business came into the Thomas Cat office the other day and waited a lot of "humorous notices wrote for to put into conversation candy." It was a big temptation to write something that would be in every lady's month, but we refrained. Writing gum drop epitaphs may properly belong to the domain of literature, but we doubt it. Surely we do not want to be haughty and above our business, but it seems to us that this is irrelevant.—Arkansas Thomas Cat.

DIPHTHERIA TREATMENT

Whereas, diphtheria, a highly infectious disease, especially dangerous to children, is reported as prevalent in almost every section of the state; and,

Whereas, the prompt administration of antitoxin early enough in each case gives prompt and practically certain relief;

Now, Therefore, the State Board of Health, acting with authority conferred upon it by law, hereby requests parents and others having charge of children to promptly isolate in a well ventilated room any child having a sore throat, especially if there are white patches in the throat, and immediately secure the services of a physician. It is urged that not less than 10,000 units of antitoxin be given as soon as diphtheria is suspected, and repeated in larger doses when necessary.

The attention of the parents is called to the provision of law that no child can be released from quarantine for diphtheria until two negative reports have been received from specimens sent in to the state laboratory. As soon as the people comply with this law, there will be no sickness or death from diphtheria.

The attention of the less progressive counties of the state is called to the ease with which such epidemics are managed, and the efficiency with which they are controlled in the counties having all-time health departments with enough public health nurses, and the county officials and the people from other counties are urged to study methods used in Fulton, Muhlenberg, Daviess, Jefferson, Scott, Mason, Boyd and Harlan counties, and the city of Lexington, to see how the health and lives of their children may be preserved at far less expense than this and other epidemic are constantly costing. It is urged that the school boards and others in authority arrange to have children under their control tested for susceptibility to diphtheria, and immunized where this is necessary.

Given under our hands and the seal of the board at Louisville, this November 1, 1921.

STOCK FARMING MAKES FIELDS PRODUCE MORE

Live stock farming and the proper care of farm manure which results from this system is the most successful and economical means of maintaining soils that will produce big crop yields, according to R. E. Stephenson, soils extension specialist from the College of Agriculture. So important is this method that Kentucky farmers will profit not only by giving careful attention to the conservation of manure but also by increasing the number of animals until each farm is stocked to its full capacity of meat and milk production. No other fertilizer is as economical as that produced by live stock, Mr. Stephenson said. At the present time nearly 660,000 dairy cows, more than 433,000 beef cattle, 1,500,000 hogs, 678,010 horses, mules and nearly 708,000 sheep are helping to keep Kentucky soils in a state of fertility where they produce big crop yields year after year.

Having enough live stock to consume all feeds raised on the farm in most of the fertility value crops being left as manure the live stock or live stock is sold, according to Mr. Stephenson. About ten pounds of grain and five pounds of roughage are required to produce a pound of beef, the plant food of 14 pounds of this being left as manure when the pound of beef is sold. About nine pounds of feed are required to produce a pound of mutton, the fertility of eight pounds of this remaining on the farm in the form of manure. Hogs are more economical in the use of feed, producing a pound of pork from about six pounds of feed and leaving the fertility of five pounds on the farm. A small amount of fertility is sold from the farm when dairy products are marketed.

HOME TOWN PAPER WEEK

People of the United States will be afforded an opportunity during this week to express in concrete form their gratitude to those men and women who through sunshine and rain, prosperity and adversity, persistently and consistently sing the song of the home town. The time long since passed when newspapers, whether daily or weekly, can subsist on the "taking it for granted" spirit of its patrons and well wishers. Costs of producing newspapers today have not decreased in anything like the proportion experienced in other lines and figures quoted lately by daily and weekly newspapers through the country have given the public a glimpse into the expense incidental to conducting the home paper.

To the newspaper men and women of each community has fallen the task of presenting the current events of a fast-going world in accordance with the modern ideas, more or less extravagant, and keeping a smiling countenance and a courageous heart when others are prone to talk "hard times." Their loyalty to the state and their community has undergone a severe test, but they met it with optimism and only a little reflection is required to show how much worse conditions might have been before the turn in the road was reached, had they pursued a different course.

Advertisers had to keep advertising whether they could pay promptly or not and business had to be kept going for the general good. The publishers and editors did their part and the second week in November is proclaimed a time when those who benefited by this policy can express it in terms of support that will insure the future of the small town paper, the backbone of every community that has the semblance of pride in itself and its neighbors. — Sioux City Argus-Leader.

Weak Blood Is a Real Barrier

Growing Children Often Need Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Some children grow too quickly — it saps their vitality. They lapse into careless, desultory habits, or develop a shrinking attitude. Their faces look pinched.

The blood becomes overtaxed by too rapid growth; and poisons from the system take the place of strength-giving red corpuscles in the blood. Red corpuscles are those little red particles that swim in blood and give it its color. Gradually that child loses interest in play.

Poor blood needs the building that the iron in Gude's Pepto-Mangan gives to weakened blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood by increasing the number of red corpuscles, and restores the blood by driving out the poisons. When the revived blood gets to work, the appetite becomes what a growing child's should be. Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on every package. — Advertisement.

POULTRY CULLING

Recent poultry culling demonstrations and lectures in Barren county have resulted in more than 40 farmers feeding tankage to their hens in order to increase egg production, according to a report of County Agent J. O. Horning, who co-operated with the extension division of the College of Agriculture in giving the demonstrations. The tankage will be used to balance the rations already being fed.

If a man is standing on the street talking to three or four hundred men he can talk them to death. But if the same man is standing on the stage talking to two or three hundred men he can't say a word.

A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and back ache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Mt. Sterling people. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. S. E. Dunn, W. High St., Mt. Sterling, says: "I had an occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for an attack of kidney trouble and they cured me of the attack. I am on my feet many hours during the day and blame that for starting the trouble. My back was sore and lame and I had a weak feeling just over my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. As soon as I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Duerson's Drug Store and began using them I got relief. I have felt fine ever since."

PIGS ARE BEST WEANED WHEN EIGHT WEEKS OLD

Good results have been obtained by weaning pigs when they are from eight to ten weeks old, according to suggestions made by animal husbandmen at the College of Agriculture to farmers who are raising full litters of pigs. At the college farm the feed given the sow for two or three days before weaning is reduced in order to dry up the milk secretion. The pigs are taken from the sow at once and little feed given her for several days. By this method the udders of the sow are not damaged from being gorged with milk when the pigs are weaned.

A ration for weaned pigs which has given good results at the college farm is composed of 40 pounds of corn, 60 pounds of shipstuf and 10 pounds of tankage. Another one which has been found to be a good one is composed of 30 pounds of corn, 30 pounds of shipstuf, 30 pounds of ground oats and 10 pounds of tankage.

We know some men who are so anxious to quarrel and chew the rag if they can't find anything else to "fuss" about they will land on the kids for milking the cows dry.

PAPER SOLD BY VETERAN EDITOR

The Kentuckian-Citizen, at Paris, which for years has been owned and managed by Bruce Miller, has been purchased by Lewis T. Lilleston, who for the last fifteen years has been Mr. Miller's chief assistant. Much of this time, during ill health of Mr. Miller, Mr. Lilleston has been in active charge of the paper.

Because of his continued ill health Mr. Miller felt the necessity of retiring from active business, he said in a statement issued to the public Friday. He will be connected with the publication as associate editor and the Kentuckian-Citizen will continue under the new management a Democratic publication.

Mr. Lilleston also made a public statement Friday declaring his intention of carrying out the policies of the former management. Mr. Miller has been an active newspaper man in Paris for 41 years.

Produce Review

On account of fine weather, good pasturage and forage crops a larger amount of cream has been delivered during the week than the corresponding week a year ago, with markets closing easier on butter. If this condition continues lower prices may be expected.

Fresh eggs continue in light supply, high prices being paid for good quality.

There is every indication that a large crop of poultry will be marketed. Receipts are larger than required for current use, and the surplus is being packed in storage.

Prices on dressed poultry have been reported easier in the larger consuming centers and will probably be reflected in the producing territories.

ROWAN COUNTY NEWS

By S. S. Cassidy

Robert Maddix, an old and much esteemed citizen of this county, died last Sunday at the age of 85 years. Mr. Maddix was an old-time wagon maker. A wagon made by him 40 years ago is still in use near Poplar Plains.

John Arnold sold to David Williams a small farm on Christy creek for $1,000.

A vein of bituminous coal, 11 feet thick, has been discovered in Rowan county, but we are enjoined to secrecy as to who owns it. It will require shaft mining, but not very deep.

Bootlegging has been light since the last court held here by Judge Prewitt. Some of them were seared out of the business and others paid fines or went to jail, but there are still a few of the "faithful" defying the law and relying on their patrons to swear them out in case they are indicted. Next to bootlegging the swearing is the greatest evil with which we have to contend. It is passing strange that any man would pay a nasty bootlegger $5 a quart for poison moonshine and then go on the witness stand and, with cool deliberation, swear a lie to protect him, thus putting himself in-line for the penitentiary to save a bootlegger from a fine and imprisonment. They call this "loyalty," but "loyalty" would be a better name.

The Clearfield Lumber Company, which has been operating here for more than 15 years, will saw out its supply of timber, the coming summer. The company has an inexhaustible supply of fire clay in its cut-over lands and we have reason to believe its next move will be a large firebrick plant in West Morehead. This company has been doing business in Pennsylvania and Kentucky for about 35 years and has never shut down on account of the panics, nor missed a payroll.

Judge Arthur Hogge has made two new voting precincts in Rowan county, which makes 11 in all.

This is court day here and a big crowd of people is in town—some on business, some just killing time and some waiting for the booze wagon. The candidates and horse jockeys have the right of way.

Marketing Body Needs Stressed

Imperative need of co-operative marketing organization of Kentucky tobacco growers was emphasized further Saturday by figures contained in the quarterly report on leaf tobacco held by the manufacturers and dealers, showing that the total amount of tobacco held by them last October 1 was 275,015,102 pounds more than the amount they had on hand on the same date in 1920, and the amount of burley tobacco held October 1, this year, exceeds by 56,761,668 pounds the stocks held by manufacturers and dealers on the corresponding date of 1920.

Unless the Kentucky tobacco growers are protected by a strong co-operating marketing organization these figures, in the opinion of experts of the Department of Agriculture of the United States, do not augur well for good prices on this year's crop.

If the present "dumping" method of marketing burley tobacco is continued, the figures showing increased stocks in the hands of dealers and manufacturers indicate that the prices offered for the present crop will be even lower than the prices offered last year.

The report shows 1,547,439,732 pounds of leaf tobacco held last October 1, compared with 1,672,169 pounds held last July 1, with 1,818,781,268 pounds held April 1, and with 1,271,524,630 pounds held October 1, 1920. The amount held on October 1, this year, included 1,381,771,003 pounds of unstemmed and 165,668,729 pounds stemmed. Burley tobacco held by manufacturers and dealers last October 1, amounted to 324,351,157 pounds, compared with 371,662,086 pounds held last July 1, with 399,001,690 pounds held last April 1, and with 267,789,489 pounds held October 1, 1920.

Dark tobacco grown in Kentucky and Tennessee districts, which was held by manufacturers and dealers last October 1 totaled 256,310,276 pounds, compared with 305,023,383 pounds held last July 1, with 307,285,000 pounds held last April 1, and with 283,185,141 pounds held October 1, 1920.

Leaf tobacco on hand October 1, 1921, includes 1,176,851,611 pounds, for which the "marked weight" (at the time it was packed or baled) was reported, and 370,587,221 pounds, for which the "actual weight" was reported.

W. A. SUTTON & SON

The corresponding amounts included for 1920, were 882,564,836 and 388,959,794 pounds, respectively; for July 1, 1921, 1,256,669,857 and 115,347,312 pounds, respectively, and for April 1, 1921, 1,372,241,606 and 446,539,662 pounds, respectively.

Allowances should be made for shrinkage on the amounts for which "marked weight" was reported in order to ascertain the actual weight. The total for October 1, 1921, includes 1,381,771,003 pounds of unstemmed and 165,668,729 pounds of stemmed leaf tobacco.
